

SOA WATCH SOLIDARITY DELEGATION

CHILE

March 15-23

Observe first hand how Chilean students are challenging Pinochet-era privatization policies in education, while the indigenous Mapuche people carry on their struggle to recover their ancestral lands. Although both the student and Mapuche protests have been brutally suppressed by Chilean security forces, the movements continue.

Join SOA Watch to experience the hopeful resistance of students and the Mapuche people. The rich history of Chilean culture will include a focus on poet Pablo Neruda and singer/songwriter Victor Jara. Participants will visit Santiago and Valpariso, led by SOA Watch Communiations Coordinator for Latin America, Pablo Ruiz, a former political prisoner and survivor of torture under the Pinochet regime.

Cost: $1200 (Does not include travel to and from Chile).
