

THE TASK FORCE ON THE AMERICAS PRESENTS

Six weeks before the military coup in Honduras, Lisa Sullivan visited with President Manuel Zelaya and asked him to send no more students to the School of the Americas.

What is the future for US/ Latin America relations if the coup in Honduras is allowed to stand?

Lisa Sullivan, Latin America Coordinator with SOA Watch, will share the content of her trips to Honduras both before and after the coup.

Little did she know that six weeks after her initial meeting that she'd be back in Honduras on a human rights delegation to express solidarity with social movements and the now-deposed President Zelaya.
